THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L., SR.

There is considerable evidence on which to base a prophecy that the Republicans will elect their first president in 12 years, come November. It is not so much that the Republicans have done anything specially deserving, but Democrats have done plenty to destroy their own opportunity.

* * *

At the moment it looks very much like Robert Taft will be the Republican nominee. Despite the lambasting given the Taft-Hartley Act by labor leaders, the workers themselves have approved by a considerable majority all of its provisions, listed separately in a Gallup poll. In fact the restoration of balance between management and labor has benefited working men throughout the country.

* * *

The labor leadership does not like the Taft-Hartley Act because it penalizes union political activity. Funds gathered by the unions cannot be used, under the law, to promote political candidates. It is virtually the same law that deprives huge corporations, or any corporation, the right to spend funds belonging to the stock holders in political activity. Individual contributions to any campaign, however, are not forbidden. Just now the law governing the use of union funds for this purpose is being tested by Phil Murray, CIO boss, in the federal courts .

* * *

When we say the Republicans have done nothing specially deserving, we must note an exception. The Taft-Hartley Act is the exception. It is marching toward industrial peace. The country is enjoying a lull in strikes and picketing which may continue.

* * *

President Truman, in his recent speeches has championed a new bill of rights ,designed primarily to abolish discrimination against Negroes. He would make lynching a federal offense, abolish poll taxes, do away with Jim Crow transportation, and put Negroes on an equality with other citizens in all matters pertaining to the educational facilities and electoral privileges. Of course, President Truman is right. It should be done. On the practical side, however, even such a congressman as Senator Byrd, is opposed to it, not so much perhaps in principal, but as regards to the effect of such legislation on Southern Negroes. In such a state as Mississippi, where Negroes at last census were in a majority, it might mean turning the state legislature over to a Negro majority, and the election of Negro senators and representatives.

* * *

At any rate President Truman's proposal has stirred the South deeply. It is almost universally resented. However, it should be noted that Negroes in the North, and there are perhaps as many of them as in the South, who do have a vote and who do vote, will probably vote for Mr. Truman. It will also attract the so-called "liberals" who are just now enraptured over the third party candidacy of Henry Wallace.

* * *

And speaking of Wallace, there is another obstacle in the path of Mr. Truman to another term in the White House. We are not specially alarmed that Wallace won a signal victory in a New York congressional district in that city. New York, it must be remembered sends quite a variety of representatives to Congress. There is Victor Mercantio, for instance, not a pink, but bright red.

* * *

The strength of Wallace, however, we feel is a strength derived from the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. Wallace hopes to take over where Roosevelt left off. But fortunately he does not inherit the political savior faire of the squire of Hyde Park. Wallace is an opportunist. He seeks to fill the void created by death. He would compromise in the cold war with Russia and, in fact, seeks the votes of all communists and fellow travelers.

* * *

But unless this country should be plunged into another depression the Wallace vote through the nation will be small, but probably large enough to injure the chance of Mr. Truman for another term. The Southern Democrats may well give their ballots to Taft, if he proves to be the Republican candidate. It looks very much like a Republican victory this fall, with Taft bearing the party standard.

JOSEPH SWAZEY AGREES WITH BILL MOULTON

February 14, 1948

Editor Nugget:

My friend, Mr. Moulton of French Corral certainly summed up in a few well chosen lines—what a sensible practical citizen thinks of taxing Future Home Builders for a permit.

The country is taxed to death as it is.

If the tax problem isn't put on a sounder basis very soon—one of our national landmarks is going to disappear altogether. I refer to the Buffalo—there won't be any room left on a nickel to put even a small comma pretty quick.

We won the war, all right—but we certainly are not making any big gains winning the peace. Certainly, over-taxation isn't going to win it. Let's rebuild America first—then we can help Europe—instead of tearing down America to build up Europe.

Joseph M. Swazey.

MARIAN ANDERSON SINGS IN SACTO. SUN.

SACRAMENTO: Marian Anderson, the great American Negro contralto, who failed to keep a concert date in Sacramento's Memorial auditorium Friday, February 13, because of her manager's mix-up of dates, will sing here Sunday afternoon, February 29, at 3 p.m.

The famous singer, who expressed intense regret at the error and wishes to "apologize in person to the people of Sacramento", is one of the nation's top concert attractions, and drew the biggest audience of the season for a single artist. Ticket stubs held by concertgoers for the February 13 concert will be honored at the Sunday afternoon concert. Additional seats are still available for others who wish to attend.

Marian Anderson's program will start with a group of classic music, followed by a group of Schubert songs, the opera aria, "Ne Me Refuse Pas" from Massenet's "Herodiade", and folk songs. The final group will be her beloved Negro spirituals.

Madeline Himes Reports on Japan

NEVADA CITY "The Japanese are better off, so far as food is concerned than the war ravaged countries of Europe. On their fish and rice diet they do not go hungry except in rare instances."

This is the report of Miss Madeline Himes, who has just returned from a year in Tokyo, where she was employed by the American Red Cross in a public relations and supervisory capacity. She has now resigned from the Red Cross and will leave for New York early in March. She resides with her mother, Mrs. Grace Himes at 414 Jordan Street in this city.

"In sixteen square miles of Tokyo's industrial section which was destroyed by bombs," said Miss Himes, "there is now a vast shacktown of small homes. Each one has a little vegetable garden adjoining. The chimney's of destroyed manufacturing plants tower over these humble homes. There are walls of brick and cement still standing, but otherwise as far as the eye can see there are these tiny Japanese houses and their tiny gardens. Food, of course is high priced, but fish and rice are sufficient apparently to the needs of the Japanese. Apples, a western importation sell at 75 cents to $1.00 each, much beyond the means of all but the very wealthy.

"The most remarkable thing, I found, is the way the Japanese are going western, not only as to clothes, but as to schools and customs. The women are emerging in the large life of the men. Girls are now admitted to all schools. Even the Imperial College of Tokyo now must admit women. Only the older women wear the obe and kimona.

"The young people are vastly interested in American jazz, blues, and razzle dazzle. They dance the rumba, conga and tango. The dancing begins in the morning and lasts all day. They also pack up a lunch, take plenty of spare wraps, go to the theater in the morning, and spend the day seeing and hearing the stylized, popular plays called Kabuki. The ancient plays called Noh, are also a great attraction.

"Another great source of recreation is baseball. The games begin with the dawn, and last till night fall. Babe Ruth is a Japanese saint whose career is known and followed by every Japanese youth.

"By order of General MacArthur all women now have the vote. I was told by one of the older Japanese statesmen, that the reason several Japanese women were chosen in the Japanese diet was because the women voted solidly for members of their own sex, thinking this was included in the order."

GRASS VALLEY: A near-capacity crowd thronged the Veterans Memorial Building here Friday night when the Twin Cities Concert Association, headed by William Durbrow, presented the General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus. Only a few seats high-up in the balcony were vacant as music-lovers turned out en masse to hear a robust program of the folk music of Russia.

Robert Paine is Concert Manager.

The Chorus, composed entirely of Cossacks was directed by Nicholas Kostrukoff. Gabriel Soloduhin performed the traditional and exciting Lesginka—the sword dance of the Cossacks, which he learned as a boy in the Kuban.

In addition to Russian liturgical music and folk-songs, the program included Cossack melodies, battle-songs, and dance. The chorus was dressed in the colorful military uniform of the Cossack soldier. For the first third of the program the ywore somber blue tunics, changed to brillian red satin for the second and white satin tunics for the last half.

The chorus is named after the famous Cossack "General Platoff' popular hero who achieved renown by turning back Napoleon's invading army in his march on Moscow. The word "Don" is a distinguishing term and refers to the river Don which runs through the district from which these Cossacks come.

NEVADA CITY: Fred Trease, 25, of Fallon, Nevada died in a local hospital Saturday, from the effects of burns suffered when the motel cabin in which he was staying was gutted by flames early Saturday.

The cabin, No. 5 at the Nevada City Motel on the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway just outside the city limits, was already enveloped in flames by the time the fire department was summoned at 6:15.

Trease was asleep. Firemen helped extricate him from the cabin and removed him to the Nevada County Hospital, where medical aid was immediately available. He reported that he was unable to find the door in the stifling, smoke-filled room.

Firemen saved other buildings in the motel, but cabin No. 5 was completely destroyed.

J. W. Wright, owner of the motel, states that in his opinion, the fire started from a cigarette.

Holmes Funeral Home delivered the body to Trease's family in Fallon, Nevada.

N.I.D. SEEKS NEW LOAN

GRASS VALLEY: Negotiations toward obtaining definite offers and terms of a loan which could relieve the immediate financial pressure and provide a working capital are under way this week by Manager Forrest Varney of the Nevada Irrigation District. Authorization for the step was made at last Friday's business session of the board of directors.

Varney figured that perhaps $250,000 would be the maximum amount necessary. He reported to the board that 105 response letters had been received from water users making advance application for water amounting to an income of $8500. The request letters explained the close financial situation of the district and requested that application and payments be made for water to be used next summer.

After considerable explanation and at the insistance of Harold Wood, of Blackie and Wood, engineers for the district, the board granted a 60 day extension of time to the Charles Brown company for the completion of Scotts Flat dam.

About 2600 acre feet of water has piled up behind the dam to date, the February snows delaying work on the dam for the past week.

It was reported the Parker Construction Company had completed the Combe-Ophir canal job. Another matter mentioned was about clearance of about 3500 feet of bench for flume construction. About a mile of road was built to get to the work.

Free Ride For You— on the Freedom Train!

We had a real thrill in Our Town just the other day—when the Freedom Train stopped by!

You've heard about it, of course—an actual train that's touring the country to remind us again what true Democracy means. It carries such Americana as the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, and other immortal documents that guarantee every citizen his liberty.

A great idea! And from where I sit, we're all riding along with that Freedom Train—right now—by living in a country that protects our individual liberties—whether they apply to our right to vote, to choose our church, to speak our minds, or enjoy a glass of beer with friends.

Only thing is—we've got to prove ourselves worthy of the ride . . . by guarding zealously against whatever forces of intolerance encroach upon our American concepts of live-and-let-live, in a free and strong Democracy!

NEVADA COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE STORY OF SWEETLAND

By Ada Perry Landsburg

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ada Perry Landsburg was born in the little town of Sweetland, January 30, 1859. She was the daughter of John and Lydia Perry, and spent many years there as well as in Relief Hill and North Bloomfield and Nevada City.

She and her husband moved to Kuna, Idaho to be near her daughter, Linda. Some years after her husband passed away, she had the misfortune to fall and has been bed ridden for more than ten years.)

Forward

The writer has been asked to write the early history of the little town of Sweetland, Nevada County, California. To do justice to the subject, she feels she must go back a few years previous to her advent in the world, and we hope the readers of this story will excuse her for bringing into it the names of the members of her own family, as they seem to have had considerable to do with the early history of the romantic little town of Sweetland, and its inhabitants. Some of the data has been furnished by her people, other data from her own knowledge of the events as they occurred.

In the year 1848, a man was seen leaving his family in a far Eastern State, Connecticut. Having been unsuccessful in business ventures, and lured by the tales of other adventurers, of the wonderful gold mines of California, he too had resolved to go to California, to make his fortune. The man was about 30 years of age, his wife 31. The family consisted of two girls and a boy. Lydia aged 9, Edna 5 and Harrison Otis, 3 years of age.

Having said "goodby" to his family, he started on his long journey, going first to New York and then embarked on a sailing vessel bound for San Francisco via Cape Horn. The writer does not know the time required for the journey, but heard his wife say that it was nine months before she received a letter from him, although he had written very soon after his arrival in San Francisco.

He found there a few homes, a few business houses, but it was largely a city of tents. We do not know much of his travels or trials in California, for the next ten years, but know he was blind for nine months, that he had a store at one time in Sacramento, which was ruined when the banks of the Sacramento River flowed. From Sacramento, he went to Nevada City, and later to Sweetland.

Now after the separation from his family for ten years, he sent for them to come to California, and they came, first to New York City, where they remained for five days, then embarked on a steamer called the "Old Senora" a vessel which by some was called "unseaworthy", but brought them safely to Acpulco, on the Isthmus of Panama. (The Old Senora could not have been as "unseaworthy" as she seemed, for we later read of several citizens of Nevada City who came at a much later date on the same boat.)

The Hiscox family crossed the Isthmus in horse cars, and then embarked on a steamer called the "Golden Gate" and arrived in San Francisco in June, 1958. The date of their sailing from New York was May 20th, 1858. From San Francisco they went by boat to Sacramento, from there by boat to Marysville. The last lap of their journey was made by stage to Sweetland, a distance of 32 miles.

As the stage drove over and down a hill, which was named "Buckeye Hill", the occupants could look down and view the little town, which was to be their home for many years. They saw a little cluster of homes, not more than 18 and a few business houses, two hotels, two stores, and a saloon.

Crossing a bridge over what they afterwards knew as Sweetland Creek, the stage drove up the one street of the village and brought hte travelers to their journey's end, a hotel owned and operated by Frank and James W. Wood, cousins. The same building also housed a grocery store, also a bar where liquors by the drink were dispensed.

On their arrival, they found that the hotel must be their home for the next few weeks, as a home which was in process of building for them would not be ready for occupancy for several weeks.

When Hiscox welcomed his family, he found one new member, as his older girl had married before leaving the east, so he welcomed his wife, John and Lydia Perry, Edna aged 15 and Harrison aged 13 years.

On the first Sunday after the arrival of the family, they were taken out to view the town. South of the hotel, perhaps 150 feet was a large building called the "Old Dominion" which had been built to accommodate the workers of a saw mill, which was located south west of the Old Dominion. The building contained rooms upstairs and two or three large rooms downstairs. The front room had evidently been a recreation room for the laborers, the other two rooms a kitchen and dining room. The owners of the building, and the sawmill, were J. C. Broderick, and Otis Hiscox. They also owned a large herd of hogs, which ran at will over the hills at the east of town, gathering much of their living from the acorns, which fell from the trees, the rest of their living from the owners of the nerd. The income from the sale of these animals, was considerable. The keeping of the herd was a venture. The rattle-snakes were so plentiful, that they were a menace to the men who worked in the timber, and it was said that the hogs would destroy the snakes, and we believe they did what was expected of them, for in the 22 years we lived in Sweetland, we never heard or saw more than two.

On this Sunday afternoon the family also visited the new home, which was being built for them. It was located almost opposite the mill, but far from it on the east side of the street.

From there the family continued their sight seeing trip to Buckeye Hill, to view the hydraulic mine owned and operated by Otis Hiscox and Jacob Finisterwald. When we remember that this was not even horse and buggy days, we cannot wonder that the family was footsore and weary when they returned to the hotel, for they had traveled far up and over steep hills, often pulling themselves up by bushes which covered the hills.

A day or two later, the older girl was covered with a rash, and not feeling well, and much concern was felt, as it was feared that it was some disease contracted on shipboard, but an old timer laughed at their fears, and told them she had only had an introduction to "Poison Oak" which grew in abundance on the hills about the town.

It has been said that Sweetland was once a trading post which may have been true, as a tribe of Indians had lived there years before, as was proven by some relics found on the site of our home. Among them, a little "mortar and pestle", which for many years was used for grinding coffee, and spices, which at that time could only be bought in the kernel. The mortar was a gray stone, bowl shaped, 4 or 4½ inches in diameter, and was very smooth, both inside and out. The pestle was of darker stone, dark blue, almost black. Both mortar and pestle were very neatly made.

COMFORT SETS THE STYLE

1. This gadget was the latest thing in headsets when grandmother was a girl. Matter of fact, it was the first headset in general use back in 1880. It weighed more than six pounds. It's a museum piece now, of course. Headset styles changed. They grew lighter, more comfortable, more efficient.

2. This chest-style model came along after many modifications of the old timer. Telephone engineers liked its voice "pick-up." Operators liked its lightness and the freedom of movement it gave. As transmitters became better, central offices became quieter and more pleasant places.

3. Today's newest streamlined set is tops for comfort, say operators who've used it. It weighs under six ounces. It's an example of how we're making equipment more comfortable . . . to make the company the sort of place that attracts the kind of people who make good service possible.

4. Here's why telephone jobs are good jobs: Pay is good — employees paid while training • Regular raises, overtime and premium pay • Steady work — telephone people can plan ahead • Benefit plan paid for entirely by company — covers sickness, death benefits and pensions • Advancement within company • Paid vacations and holidays.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder at the crimson tide
That sweeps the selfish shores of time
And breaks in shattering waves of wrath
On every land, in every clime.

Aeons ago, thousands of years before man made his appearance upon earth, a tiny trickle of water slipped down the face of a gigantic glacier, drew stronger as the centuries passed and finally became a river that paused on its journey to "carve great temples deep in the moutain's heart," and that was the beginning of the mighty Colorado river and the wonders of the Grand Conyon.

Aeons ago, a tiny dribble of hate began its long journey down through the ages. Perhaps that was when two prehistoric men, or two groups of them, in a frenzied dispute, vowed eternal enmity or fought to the death, and that was the dark beginning of the crimson tide that has scouraged the earth since the history of man began.

Gathering strength as it flowed down through unnumbered centuries, it swept over every division of the ancient world. Its tributaries were ignorance, superstition, bigotry and intolerance; they found their way into the main current until it swept over its confines and even in remote periods of time, destroyed man and his handiwork with unrestrained and terrible fury. It crested at Calvary; it has crested in many places and in many times since.

The crimson tide rolled on; it surged through the dark ages until it seemed that every good, worthy and beautiful thing would perish in its wake. It swept across the continent and whipped up by the winds of hate reached its height in the French Revolution; it reddened the shores of a new continent, rose in power to set brother against brother and overwhelm one of the greatest souls of all time, and then rolled on.

This generation has seen the crimson tide swell to hitherto unknown heights and wreak its savage will the world around. It rises still. In Greece, in Palestine, in India, in China the crimson tide sweeps on and on. Nothing is safe or sacred in its deadly path. Must this forever be?

How can man, stop the flow of this evil current, how turn it aside when it threatens the destruction of all that he holds dear? What will its next course be? What land will it next devastate?

The crimson tide is flowing still, gathering strength from the streams of hate and greed and fear upon which it feeds. It hisses whenever a firey cross is planted and self appointed arbiters of fate stand in groups about it, it flows sluggishly even where efforts for its suppression are being made, it snarls in the charges and counter charges hurled at one another by contending nations.

Are we, you and I, adding to the power to harm and devastate? Our hates and our illogical aversions may seem of small import but, whenever we say "I hate," a little is added to the strength of the crimson tide; we have become tributaries to that which may in time destroy us, our loved ones, our homes and our nation. Let us fear with a great fear the hatred in our own hearts, the greed and selfishness which may if finally unleased, swell the crimson tide until its fury knows no bounds. Fear to hate, for hate is the stuff of which terror and destruction are made.

Let us remember the lines once written by an Oriental poet; "When I scorned and hated, I was wrong. When I loved and pitied, I was right."

—Adeline Merriam Conner

NO NEW CAR?
If you're unable to get a new car why worry about it when you can still get safe dependable transportation from your present one.
Then too, until you are able to get a new car consider this fact:
A BETTER PERFORMING AND BETTER APPEARING CAR MEANS GREATER "TRADE IN" VALUE ON A NEW ONE.
....Don't deprive yourself of "new car performance" even though yours isn't the latest model. Drive in regularly for periodic inspections and service.

Only One is No. 1—

Only Chevrolet Is First!

Meet the new standard of Big-Car beauty! It's here, in Chevrolet's Bodies by Fisher—finest bodies made—available only on Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

You'll enjoy Big-Car performance, too, when you own a Chevrolet; for it brings you Valve-in-Head engine performance, found elsewhere only in more expensive cars.

Men and women everywhere agree: Only one is No. 1—only Chevrolet is first—in all-round value as in popularity. Consequently, more people drive Chevrolets than any other make, according to official nationwide registrations; and more people want Chevrolets than any other make, according to seven independent nationwide surveys. Here, in the new 1948 Chevrolet, is record value. For new and even more luxurious styling, colors and appointments have been added to all of Chevrolet's other advantages of BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

You'll find Chevrolet rides more smoothly on all types of roads due to the famous Knee-Action Ride; and, of course, Knee-Action is found only on Chevrolet and costlier cars.

Keep your present car in good running condition by bringing it to us for skilled service, now and at regular intervals, pending delivery of your new Chevrolet.
